Green Light Given Foundation
For Nation-Wide Inoculation

... Experts Satisfied After 2-Day Safety Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of polio experts Sunday gave its final approval to the start of nationwide tests Monday of a new polio vaccine.

Inoculations of the new vaccine, latest entry in the quest for a means of preventing the "great crippling," are scheduled to get under way Monday in at least some of the 171 selected communities in 45 states.

The vaccine to be used will be the manufactured version of a vaccine originally developed by Dr. Jonas Salk in his laboratories at the University of Pittsburgh.

The actual commencement of the trials, which may ultimately involve the vaccination of more than a half-million children, was okayed by a group of experts after a final two-day appraisal of the vaccine's safety.

Until the committee announced its decisions, late Sunday afternoon, that the vaccine was considered safe for use in the tests, it still had been an open question whether the vaccination program would be started as planned—even though the first shipments of the material already had been made to many of the states slated to take part.

Vaccine Distributed
Supplies of the vaccine had been distributed with "the understanding that none is to be used until released by the Vaccine Advisory Committee."

Technically, the advisory committee recommended that the NFIP go ahead with the planned tests, and President Basil O'Connor of the foundation said the organization would do so, and would assume administrative and financial responsibility for evaluating the vaccine.

The announcement of the go-ahead decision was made at a news conference at which it was said that 7,507 children, in preliminary tests, had already been given a manufactured type of the vaccine and that "there have been no recognizable untoward effects."

Of the 7,507 children, 3,443 had previously received a shot of vaccine made in Salk's own laboratory.

Of the 4,064 who received the manufactured type only, 3,097 have now been inoculated and observed for a period of at least 21 days.

The U.S. Public Health Service, through its biological control laboratory, assisted in the laboratory testing of the vaccine and also agreed with the committee.

While giving its blessing for the inauguration of the nation-wide field trials, the advisory committee recommended—and the polio foundation approved—the following:

1. No vaccine program shall be started in any area where a paralytic case of polio has been officially reported within the previous two weeks.

2. No inoculations shall be started between June 15 and Nov. 1 without the consent of the advisory committee, nor shall vaccine be given except in accordance with the planned study.

3. No area will be considered suitable for study unless there is a reasonable assurance that a complete course of three injections (spread over a period of about six weeks) can be offered.

The three states not now scheduled to participate are Maryland, Arizona and Minnesota, O'Connor said. He said the first two "wanted to go along" but decided their wasn't sufficient time before the closing of schools. As for Minnesota, O'Connor said "it has not yet indicated that it intends to go along."

Local Situation Unsettled

Dr. Everett Angle, president of the Lancaster County Medical Society, said Sunday night that safety clearance of the Salk vaccine by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis "removed one of the two questions confronting the delayed Lincoln-Lancaster county tests."

"There still remains the question of whether enough time remains before the advent of the polio season to make the local tests feasible," he said.

"The trustees of the medical society will meet Tuesday noon to decide this. But the community may rest assured that the medical society will go to all practical extents to help such a vital and hopeful experiment and will only draw back if late-ness or other circumstances weigh too greatly against indicating or fruitful results."

Lincoln-Lancaster County first set April 19 as the deadline for initiating the tests. Delay in production of the vaccine later brought about a deadline extension to April 29.

Last week the National Polio Foundation announced the Nebraska vaccine would not be moved until April 30. This third delay has forced a reconsideration of the program by the medical society.

REAs, Irrigation Men
Hail New Pumping Rates

... Power Cost For Farm Water Cut

Rural Electric Association leaders, and others interested in irrigation, hailed the Interior Department's plan for special summer power pumping rates as a "boon" for electric pump irrigators.

The plan announced late last week by Secretary Douglas McKay would give to non-federal irrigators in the Eastern Division of the Missouri Basin project—which includes eastern Nebraska—a special wattage rate on current used for irrigation.

Secretary McKay said the lower rates, being prepared by the Bureau of Reclamation, will be ready within the next few days.

The reduction will be "a great boon to a low cost efficient method of serving dependable pump irrigation," John Clema, executive manager of the Nebraska REA, emphasized.

Hoped For News
He said along with this news he had hoped that there would be news on the power line from Ft. Randall to the Grand Island area, which would carry that power near the heart of the irrigation area.

Earlier it had been reported that there would be vast quantities of secondary power which would be available when the Missouri River hydro-plants would be in full operation.

Preliminary studies have indicated that there is a need of 100,000 kilowatts of electrical capacity in the area. "A 230,000 volt line from Ft. Randall in South Dakota to the Grand Island vicinity would carry some 150,000 KW of capacity," Clema said. "and such a line has long been favored by the rural electric systems serving central and southern Nebraska."

Maurice Lindburg, Polk, president of the Polk County Public Power District, said the availability of low cost electric power could mean much in that area, as considerable interest has already been shown, and several installations are going in.

The lowered rates will "be very beneficial in this area," Ed Kozak, district manager of the Dawson County Public Power District, said, and "it's been something we have been hoping would happen for some time."

He said that in the Dawson area "from 30 to 35 per cent of all irrigation wells were being driven by electricity," but the percentage will increase to about 80 per cent when present well and pump construction is completed.

Dan Jones, chief of the state Bureau of Irrigation, pointed out that pumping is increasing continually. He said if the drought continues it will mean more pumping and "a cheaper power rate will help farmers' tremendously under the circumstances."

Bentley: U.S. Troops Request, Okay Possible

'Ike Would Act To Hold Indo-China'

WASHINGTON (P)—Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.) expressed the opinion Sunday that if there is no other way to keep Indo-China from going Communist President Eisenhower would ask and get permission from Congress to send U.S. troops there.

Bentley, one of the members of the House wounded in a shooting spree by Puerto Rican fanatics several weeks ago, said in a news letter to some of his constituents:

"The administration thinks it will not be necessary to send American GIs to fight there—it believes that the French, if equipped and armed sufficiently by us, can win the war themselves. Of course, the French are going to have to go a lot further toward granting the natives real freedom and independence if they want to win that war."

"But the President has said that we cannot permit Indo-China to fall into Communist hands—to do so would mean the eventual loss of all southeast Asia. Therefore, the inference is that if the French get tired of fighting and pull out, it will be up to us to stop the Reds in Indo-China. Please bear this in mind—the administration will do everything in its power not to have to send American boys to fight in the jungles of Indo-China. But, if there is no other way to keep Indo-China from going Communist, I think the President would ask Congress for the necessary authority and moreover, I think he would get it. However, if we fight the Reds in Indo-China, I think we will fight to win. I believe we would use any weapon at our disposal in any part of the war theater—including China—if we felt it would bring victory sooner. But let us all pray that such a necessity does not arise—in Indo-China or elsewhere."

Very Shocked
Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said meanwhile that he was "very shocked" by Vice President Nixon's recent assertion that American troops might have to be sent to Indo-China in some circumstances.

Mansfield said he was strongly against American intervention in the war there, and believed the best solution was for France to offer Indo-China independence by a certain date.

'Ill' Rita Reunited With 2 Daughters; 'Upset' Aly Loyal

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (Monday) (P)—Rita Hayworth, described as "dreadfully upset," was reunited early today with her two small daughters who Friday were named in charges of child neglect.

The actress and her husband, Singer Dick Haymes, arrived early today and went directly to the home of a governess in whose care the children were left when the couple went to Florida two weeks ago.

The governess, Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, said Miss Hayworth was "so upset she was ill."

Neither the actress nor her husband was available for direct comment.

Shortly before they arrived, Moslem Prince Aly Khan, father of the youngest girl, stepped aboard a New York-bound plane in Los Angeles.

Khan had been described as "upset" by the charges that his daughter, the first Moslem princess in 200 years, had been neglected, but determined to stand by Miss Hayworth when the hearing comes up in Westchester Children's Court Tuesday.

Jet Plane Attracts Open-House Crowd

Air-Minded Lincoln Citizens Jam New Air Terminal At Open House

Close to 10,000 air-minded citizens of the Capital City joined in land-locked praise of Lincoln's new air terminal building Sunday.

The crowds started early and stayed late as the official opening of the terminal crowned another step in the progress of the air age here.

According to Charles Stuart, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, one of the sponsoring agents of the terminal, the reception was a full-fledged success. Members of the committee acted as hosts during the day-long open house.

Feature of the day was a new Convair Mainliner, flying attraction of United Air Lines which instituted the flight into Lincoln only a short while ago. Braniff Airlines, which handles the north-south air traffic, had to withhold display of one of their planes because of changes Sunday in their summer schedules.

Long lines queued up first in front of the free ice cream and cookie counter, and then the ramps to the Convair and other planes placed on exhibition during the day. Also getting a brisk trade was the Compass Room, new dining quarters operated by Fred. Dean and Andy Schizas.

The Air Force had on display for the first time a C-47, flying gas station for in-flight refueling, and a F-80 training jet. In evidence was a F-4U Navy fighter.

Winners Of State Poetry Contest Told

Winners of a state original poetry contest were announced at the close of a Chaparral Poetry Club retreat at the Capital Hotel this week end.

Josephine Charles of Hastings was first, Grace Volaw of Wellfleet, second and Amy Bruner of West Point, third.

About 50 persons attended a Saturday banquet opened by Mary Evelyn Keichel of St. Paul with an invocation, an original poem.

Lillian Alma Rice of Hastings introduced Mrs. Walter E. Scott of Lincoln who sang "At Easter," for which music was written by Harriett Swan Spence and words by Mildred Moon Howell of Fairbury.

Mildred Nye Dewey of Grand Island, director of the 11-state region which includes Nebraska, was introduced by Mrs. Edna P. Neely of Lincoln, state regent.

A scrapbook of poems by Nebraska Chaparral poets was presented to Miss Dewey, who had been Nebraska regent for 10 years.

Thelma Allinder of Osceola and Wilma Wolfe of Lincoln presented programs of original poetry at the Sunday afternoon session.

Mrs. Neely was hostess at a reception at her home to close the retreat Sunday evening.

Violence Marks Argentine Election; Peron Man Leads

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (P)—President Peron's candidate for vice president, Rear Adm. Alberto Teissiere, took a better than 2 to 1 lead over his Radical Party opponent in returns from the national elections.

If the trend of the early returns continues, it might give the Peronistas their biggest election triumph.

A Peronista party leader was killed in a gun fight with two brothers who were workers for the opposition in the village of Colonia Carolina, province of Corrientes. Two policemen were shot by another political worker.

Officials said there was heavy voting throughout the nation, but order prevailed in most of the country.

Session Resumes Monday

3 Bills With 'Best Chances' Are First

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska Legislature will reconvene at 1:30 Monday afternoon after a five day recess of the special session on taxation amendments and at 2 p.m. the revenue and judiciary committees will start hearings on four bills. Sen. Robert McNutt of Lincoln will be presiding.

Three of the proposals generally considered to have the best chance of passage, so that they may appear on the ballot in November, will be heard Monday. They permit the Legislature to provide for appointment rather than election of assessors; tax commission, to replace the present board of equalization and exemption of household goods and personal effects from taxation.

The Anderson-Williams homestead exemption bill will also be heard. It provides that the Legislature may exempt 20 per cent or $2,000 in the assessed valuation of owner occupied dwellings in cities on farms. It would apply whether or not there is a sales tax.

Visit Voters

The recess gave the law-makers an opportunity to visit with voters they represent on the specific issues to be considered and learn the majority opinion. Before leaving for the opening of the special session it was not known just what proposals might be introduced.

Tuesday starting at 10 a.m., the committee will hold hearings on two sales tax proposals and another homestead exemption bill introduced by Sen. Tom Coffey.

LB 5, introduced by Sen. Otto Liebers, chairman of the Legislative Council tax study committee, provides for a direct vote on a mandate to the Legislature to enact a sales tax. The revenue would be used first to meet obligations of the state general fund with the balance going as state aid to public schools.

While replacing state property taxes for the general fund, it would not take the state out of the property tax field and no limitation would be placed on special property levies. The Legislature could pass.

"I don't see any virtue in taking the state out of the property tax field, because I feel we need statewide equalization," Gov. Robert Crosby contends.

LB 7, introduced by Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg, provides that the state would have to remove itself from the property tax field in the event of enactment of a sales or income tax. Former advocates of a broader tax base believe it has the best chance of passage.

Against Vote

However, most of the former sales tax advocates appears to be lining up against any proposal that would submit the question of a sales or income tax to vote of the people. They generally expressed the belief it would lose in a popular vote.

They argue that the Legislature already has the power to enact such a tax and that they should assume their responsibility of making the decision whether or not such a tax is necessary. They oppose it as "legislation by Constitution."

Other senators contend that the voters will have to pay any new tax and that they should make the decision rather than have the Legislature "ramrod down their throats" new taxes.

The Coffey homestead exemption bill provides for a refund or credit of 20 per cent of the tax on owner occupied homes after he had paid his taxes in full to the county treasurer. The refund would be financed out of sales and income tax revenues and would be conditioned on passage of such taxes.

Seed Certification Deadline May 20

By CYRIL BISH
Lancaster County Agent

With the excellent rain which came last week, crops in Lancaster County will no doubt take on a new look in the next few days. Crops which will benefit most are oats, wheat, alfalfa, and clover. Let's hope this winds up the dirt storms which have been so common this spring.

Farmers interested in making application for seed certification must do so by May 20 this year.

Applications for certifying wheat, oats, barley, rye, bromegrass, sweet clover, wheat grass, vetch, and first crop alfalfa for seed are due on this date. Application blanks may be secured from the County Extension office.

Dan Olson of Raymond indicated that most of his neighbors will plant some grain sorghum this year. Dan produced some certified Martin Milo last year. He indicated that he is sold out already.

From other reports in the county it sounds as if there is considerable interest in growing more sorghums.

Sorghum varieties recommended for this area include Midland and Redbine 60—with Martin, Combine 60, and early Kalo as varieties being acceptable.

Delayed planting of grain sorghums usually pays. By planting the last week in May or the first week in June, fields can be rid of several crops of weeds before the seed is planted. The soil will be much warmer at this time also and the small seeds will germinate and grow much faster. This all adds up to better and more thrifty stands.

State 'Extremely Fortunate' To Get Psychiatric Institute

A New York psychiatrist, Dr. William Livingston, who is a member of the World Health Organization believes that "the state is extremely fortunate" to get a psychiatric institute in the University of Nebraska's College of Medicine building program.

Livingston is in Lincoln to speak to the Nebraska Welfare Association conference Monday which is meeting in conjunction with the regional conference of the American Public Welfare Association.

The English medical graduate said "I don't know of any place that is going to have the benefit of such teaching, training and treatment of the problems of childhood."

Only Method

He said the institute "is probably the only method of treating mental health in a community."

"Fifty per cent of all hospital beds," he said, "are occupied by patients suffering from some sort of mental disturbance."

He called the proposed new institute "the most economic method of treating illness."

Dr. Livingston said he would join the staff at the college institute on a permanent basis probably next January. He is presently visiting lecturer at the NU Medical College.

Spank 'Em

In a bit of advice to parents, Dr. Livingston said that children should be spanked—but not in a fit of anger.

And the psychiatrist cautioned that the punishment should not be meted out by a grandmother or other person, only the mother or father.

More than 225 representatives of the American Public Welfare Association registered Sunday for their annual conference.

Simmons Speaks

State Chief Justice Robert Simmons of the Nebraska Supreme Court addressed the group Sunday evening. He spoke of his official visits to the Far East and to India and Pakistan.

He said the faith of man in God is "found everywhere you go."

Justice Simmons said he was beset with people asking him how their children could be educated in America.

"What greater tribute can a nation pay to another than to want their son or daughter to learn in our institutions," the supreme court justice said.

Salutations were given by Arthur McCaw, state budget director, speaking for the absent Gov. Robert Crosby, and by Lincoln Mayor Clark Jeary.

Congressman Carl Curtis will address the group at 10:45 a.m. Monday on the subject, "Social Security Legislation."

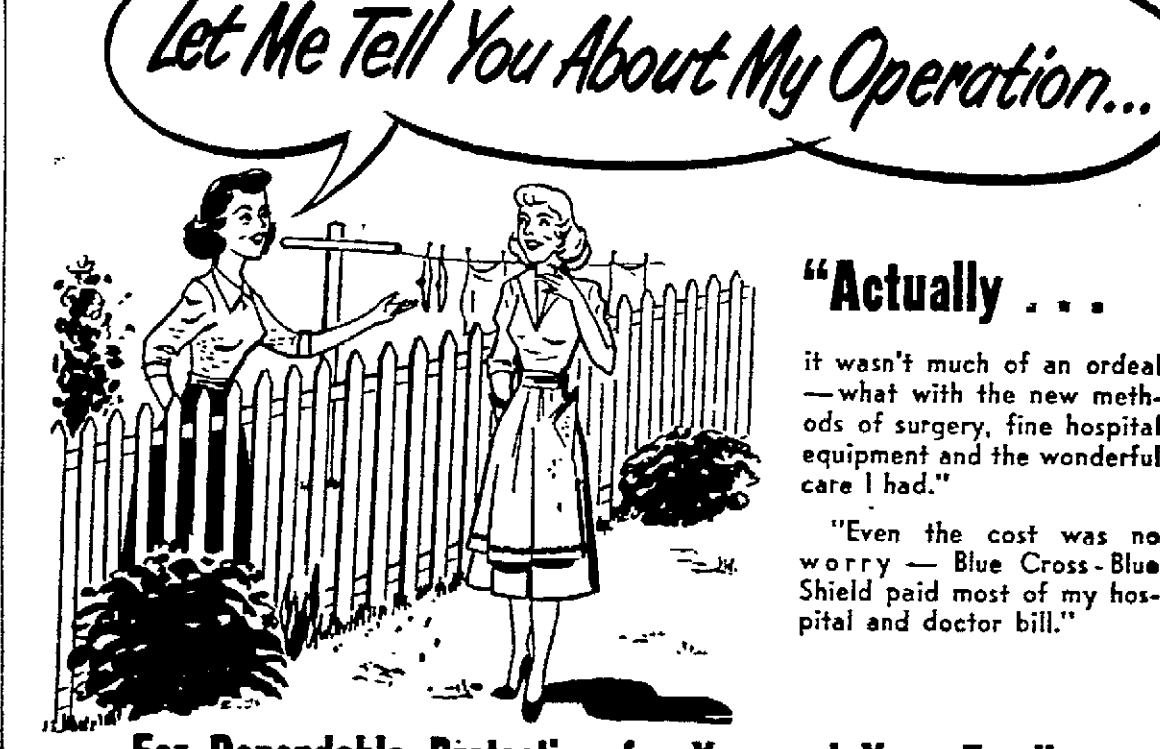

Elmer T. Elliot, Supervisor, Dies

Elmer T. Elliott, 1911 Sewell, retired supervisor of Post Office Station C at 27th & Vine, died Sunday.

Mr. Elliott had been employed there for 20 years, retiring three years ago because of ill health.

Born in Exeter, he had lived in Lincoln 30 years. He was a member of the Methodist Church and the Supervisors Association.

Surviving are his wife, Mayme; daughters, Elva and Katherine, at home; and a brother, O. H. Elliott of Lincoln.

Church 75th Anniversary Celebrated

MINDEN, Neb.—A capacity crowd attended the day-long observance of the 75th anniversary of the First Methodist Church of Minden Sunday.

Guest speaker for the morning service was a former pastor, the Rev. Arthur Johnson of Fairbury. The group met for a basket dinner at the church at noon. The afternoon remembrance service was directed by W. A. Weidenbach.

A dramatization of events and possible events in the life of the church was given Sunday evening directed by Clayton Morey. The Rev. Harold T. Slagg is now pastor of the Minden church.

Iraq Gets U.S. Aid
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Baghdad Radio broadcast Sunday a government communique saying Iraq is to receive arms aid from the United States. Iraq asked for U.S. military equipment in March, 1953, and Sunday's communique said the request had been granted unconditionally.

New Library Is Dedicated At Midland

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Midland College's new $183,000 library was dedicated Sunday with Dr. R. R. Belter, Burlington, Ia., president of the Warburg Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, giving the principal address.

Others taking part in the dedication were Dr. Paul W. Dieckman, president of Midland; the Rev. Lorn Wolff, Lincoln, president of the Board of Trustees at Midland, and Dr. T. J. C. Schult, Fremont, president of the Nebraska Synod of the UCLA.

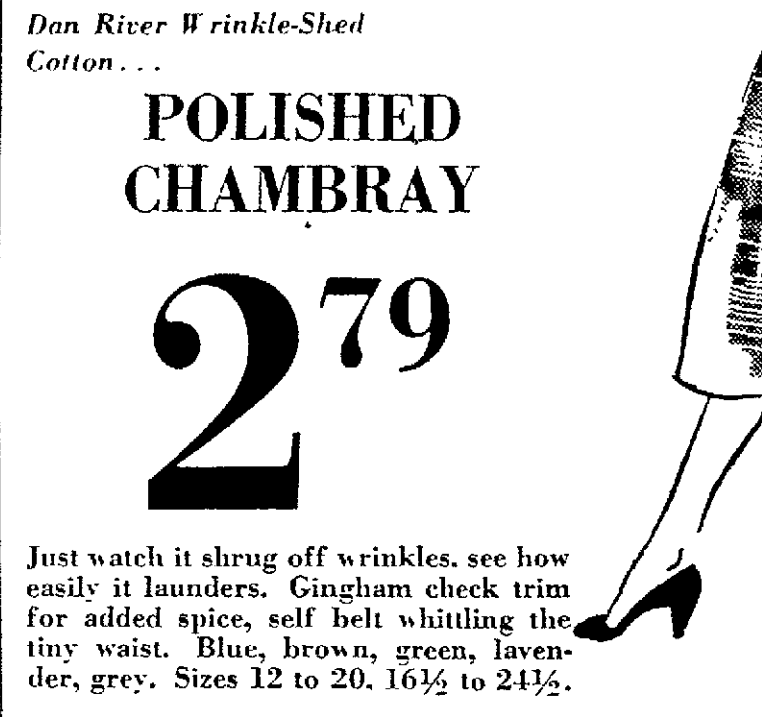

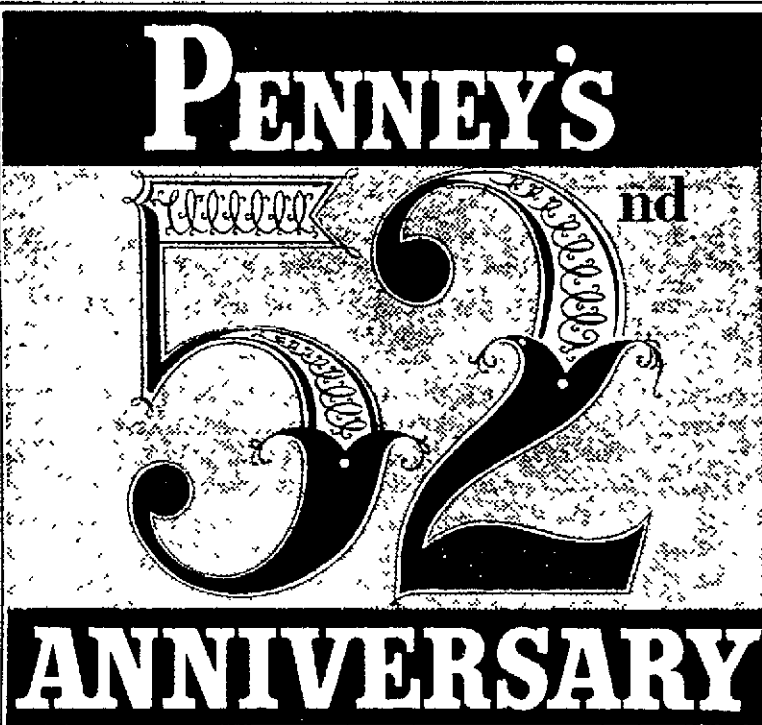

A guest at the dedication was Isami Doi, father of Yuichiro Doi, Hawaiian football player killed at Midland last fall. A memorial to Doi—a live plant area in the lobby of the new library—also was dedicated. The elder Doi, his family and friends sent more than 500 Hawaiian orchids to the college for the dedication.

A Wedding In August

MISS SARAH JAYNE GORTON

Of particular interest to campus groups this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Gorton of Tecumseh of the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Jayne, to Carl Paul Ofe Jr. of Plattsmouth, son of Mrs.

C. P. Ofe of Madison, and the late Mr. Ofe.

The wedding is planned for early August.

Miss Gorton is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Mr. Ofe will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Quota Club Program

Following the monthly dinner-meeting of the Lincoln Quota Club, to be held at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker, a talk on her experiences as an exchange teacher in England last year will be given by Miss Esther Montgomery, a member of the Lincoln High School faculty.

Also a feature of the program will be piano numbers by Miss Marilyn Miller, a student at the University of Nebraska and the 1953 Quota scholarship winner.

Mrs. Gladys Ahlquist, outgoing president, will preside at the meeting and the initiation of a new member, Miss Ann Kryger, after which the club's newly-elected officers will be installed by Mrs. Agnes Schmitt Harrison. Seventh District governor of Quota International and a charter member of the Lincoln club. In charge of the program and table arrangements will be Miss Amber White, chairman of the service committee, assisted by Mrs. Erma Weiler and Mrs. Blossom Morey.

To Entertain On Monday

Mrs. William L. Ferguson will entertain at a 10 o'clock coffee Monday morning when her guests will be the coffee hostesses who will serve for the next production of the Circlet Community Theater.

AROUND TOWN

THERE'S only one thing nicer than a morning in April — and that's a morning in April with news — So, this is a particularly pleasant morning, we think — all because we have collected from here and there some interesting facts involving activity in Lincoln.

THIS is the morning that Miss Ruth Jewett, whose marriage to John Small of New York takes place next Saturday, is announcing the members of the bridal entourage — For her matron of honor the bride-

Pi Beta Phi Luncheon

Mrs. Richard H. Rogers will be hostess at her home, 2525 Woodcrest, on Saturday afternoon, to the members of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club. Following the 1 o'clock luncheon, a book review will be given by Mrs. R. W. Hill of Hebron.

Serving as co-chairmen of the hostess committee are Mrs. Wardner Scott and Mrs. James Evinger, who will be assisted by Mrs. Oliver Everett, Mrs. Edward Faytinger, Mrs. Victor Jovanat, Mrs. Richard Moses, Mrs. George Proudfit, Mrs. Marvin Robinson, Mrs. William Wiese and Mrs. Stanley Zemer.

elect will have her sister, Mrs. Robert D. Birkhoff of Knoxville, Tenn., and the bridesmaids are to be Miss Barbara Dillman, Miss Joanne Hite, and Mrs. Donald McArthur of Seward. Miss Marlene Stroh and Mrs. Thomas E. Johnson of Omaha, will light the candles.

Homer A. (Tom) Yates Jr. of Tarrytown, N.Y., will serve Mr. Small as best man, and the ushers will include Randall Ayer, Norwalk, Conn., William Hein Jr., Grey R. Jewett Jr., brother of the bride, and Donald McArthur of Seward.

ON Friday evening, following the wedding rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Grey R. Jewett will preside at dinner at the University Club in pre-nuptial courtesy to their daughter and Mr. Small. The guest list will include the members of the families and the bridal party.

Arriving from Washington, D.C., in time for the dinner will be the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lyle F. Small.

THE KINDERS, we learned, arrived home a day or two ahead of schedule from their trip to Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean R. Kinder, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Jack Dwinell of Chicago, and her daughter Jean, left early in April to spend the Easter season at Bermuda. From what we gather the trip was a most interesting one from several standpoints — The Easter lilies were all in bloom on the island, which added to the Easter atmosphere, and the stay in Bermuda was much enjoyed. When the Kinders and fellow passengers boarded the ship for the return to New York City, a British band played them out to sea — Everything was fine until the ship approached the New York harbor — the fog was so dense that the fog horns on all ships were blowing at twenty-second intervals — Finally, the ship went as far in as it could go with radar, and then had to wait until the escort ship could find them before going in to dock — a delay of four hours. The stay in New York City, which for young Miss Dwinell the circus at Madison Square Garden was to have been the highlight, had to be cancelled — the young lady came down with the measles, so the travelers boarded the train for home with as much speed as possible.

UNDERSTAND there will be guests in town at late week-end — Mrs. C. R. Philbrick of Omaha, formerly of Lincoln, will come on Thursday to spend a long week-end as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver, and will be joined on Saturday by Mr. Philbrick.

ON FRIDAY evening, so we hear, Miss Audrey Weese of Pocatello, Idaho, a senior at the University of Colorado where she is a Chi Omega — AND — the fiancée of Don Eichler, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eichler, will be arriving on Friday evening to spend a week-end in Lincoln.

COMPLIMENTING Miss Weese on Saturday will be Mrs. E. M. Weaver and Mrs. Seth Scott who have invited 30 guests for a dessert luncheon and a crystal shower at the home of Mrs. Weaver. In addition to Mrs. Philbrick the out of town guests will include Mrs. H. H. Bennett and Mrs. George Sampson, both of Omaha.

Music Group Has Initiation

Members of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music sorority at the University of Nebraska, held initiation ceremonies Sunday morning.

The new initiates include Miss Lois Bramer, Harlan, Ia.; Miss Nadine Bosley, Palisade; Miss Janet Boettcher, Wyomere; Miss Donna Steward, Sidney; Miss Shirley McPeck, Geneva; Miss Ruth Kluck, Columbus; Miss Sue Kirkman, and Miss Phyllis Sherman, Tecumseh; and Miss Phyllis Maloney, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Has Chapel Wedding

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Strawser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Strawser, and Clement Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jones of Wyomere, was solemnized at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, April 25. The lines of the double ring ceremony were read by the Rev. Virgil Anderson in the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church.

As the 200 guests assembled, Miss Carolyn Jones sang, "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because." A reading of "How Do I Love Thee" was given by Mrs. Albert Pavelka.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Edgar Henricks who wore a pale pink frock designed with a fitted lace bodice and full skirt of net-over-satin. She carried a rounded bouquet of pink carnations.

White Chantilly-type lace fashioned the bride's period gown. Opalescent sequins patterned the floral motif of the small lace collar and fitted basque, which was completed by long sleeves, and the wide skirt extended into a train. A tiara of sequins and pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid.

Serving as best man was Howard Jones of Odell, and the ushers were Marvin Aden of Wyomere, and Edgar Henricks of Lincoln. Ronald Pavelka and Leonard Pavelka, nephews of the bride, were ringbearers.

Following the reception, which was held in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home in Wyomere.

A Guest From Kansas

A week-end guest in Lincoln was Mrs. Francis Heller of Lawrence, Kan., who visited the members of the active chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority at the University of Nebraska.

braska campus. Mrs. Heller, who is president of the sorority's province XII, was honored at a tea Friday afternoon, for which the active chapter members were hostesses.

Candlelight Ceremony

The altar of St. Paul Lutheran Church at DeWitt was appointed with an arrangement of white gradioli and woodwardia, and lighted by white candles burning in bronze candelabra, for the marriage of Miss Marilyn Niemeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Niemeyer of Cortland, and Ronald E. Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Higgins of Beatrice, on Sunday evening, April 25. In the presence of 200 guests, the double ring service was read by the Rev. B. C. Wiebke.

A prelude of organ music was presented by Miss Gladys Damkroger, who also played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Shirley Arpe as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Caroline Niemeyer was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Doris Higgins of Beatrice, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Verona Burger of DeWitt. The attendants' attire consisted of Nile green net over taffeta, were fashioned with full, waltz-length skirts and strapless basques completed with shoulder stoles of net. They wore headaddresses of green net and carried nosegays of pink carnations. Wearing similar costumes of lavender net and taffeta were the flower girl, Miss Kathleen Niemeyer of Pickrell, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ruth Niemeyer of DeWitt, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marjorie Higgins of Beatrice, the bridegroom's sister, who lighted the candles.

Charles Higgins served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Niemeyer of Cortland, brother of the bride, and Lyle Schmidt of St. Mary.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and appeared in a gown of white imported lace and tulle. Petal appliques of the lace framed the décolletage of the long-sleeved lace bodice, and beneath a snug midriff of satin, the skirt of lace-trimmed tulle flared into fullness. Her silk illusion veil was held by a cap of lace edged with pearls, and she carried a cascade of pale pink roses and sweetpeas centered with an orchid. Her double strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Clatonia High School auditorium. Upon returning from a wedding trip to Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Higgins will make their home in Lincoln.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

The Best Bargain

The best bargain is getting the most for the smallest amount of money — Today we're giving you a recipe for the tops in good bargains — one both your family and the piggy bank will love, and it's called "Meat Ring Around Creamed Potatoes and Onions." Here is what you do:

MEAT RING
(Makes 6 servings)
2 cups soft bread cubes
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1 1/2 pounds lean chuck, ground
1/4 cup catsup
Combine bread cubes, hot water, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Add nonfat dry milk powder and ground beef; blend well. Pour catsup into bottom of 9-inch ring mold baking pan. Press meat mixture lightly into pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Unmold onto serving platter. Fill center with creamed potatoes and onions. Serve at once. If desired, top with additional catsup.

CREAMED POTATOES AND ONIONS

(Makes 6 servings)
4 medium-sized potatoes, pared and cubed
1 cup onion rings
1 cup water
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
Cook potatoes and onion rings in boiling salted water until tender. Pour 1 cup water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk powder, flour, salt, and paprika over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add parsley, cooked potatoes and onions. Place in center of meat ring.

How To Be 'Somebody'

By JOHN POWERS

Are You Miss Somebody, or Miss Everybody? The "somebody" I'm talking about is the charming woman with individuality, who expresses her personal point of view intelligently, and who profits by her natural assets. The "everybody" is a carbon copy of a dozen other people.

It's awfully easy to be a copyist, in living as in the arts. It's not so easy to be original. The roots of conformity are implanted in childhood, and their outward expressions are noted even by the very young. Remember the school days taunts of "Copycat! Copycat!" that greeted the little girl who imitated the dress of her best friend, or who prepared her lessons by looking over her neighbor's shoulders?

Even though you are grown-up now, you still may be tempted to be the copycat, by adopting the ways of dress or manner that you admire in another. Realize, however, that what is attractive for one is not attractive for all. Better to take stock of your good and poor points, then go about accentuating the one, minimizing the other — but in your very own manner.

Realize too, that attractiveness is not a matter of physical features so much as it is a general quality about a woman. Your appearance depends primarily on what you do with all of your assets and liabilities, not just one or two.

The pretty girl may have the edge in one respect, but relying on that edge, she may fall behind in the total picture of "Miss Somebody." While she is satisfied with her own good looks, you are conscious of the fact that there is more to charm than good looks alone. You are not copying her hair style, her make-up, her fashions — or anybody else's. You are keeping a firm hand on the hair brush, a sharp eye on the calorie chart, a warm iron on the clothes and an alert mind on events. You are conscious of the importance of grooming, of posture, of a pleasant voice and bright conversation, and the complete result is more engaging than beauty alone.

Brownell Said Blocking Prison Probe

Rep. Patton Charges 'Pressure'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Pat Sutton (D-Tenn.), charged Sunday that Attorney General Herbert Brownell "is using his influence" to block a proposed investigation of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Sutton issued a statement in which he contended that "the pressure is on from downtown" to shelve the proposal to investigate what Sutton called "the mess" in the Prisons Bureau.

The Tennesseean said he will support a resolution introduced by Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-N.Y.) which calls for an investigation of the bureau and its administration by James V. Bennett.

"Just why Mr. Brownell should get out on a limb in defense of Bennett," Sutton said, "I do not know, but he has apparently placed himself in that hazardous position and he is in grave danger of having the limb saved off."

He added: "A probe of the Prison Bureau and its administrator is long overdue. Many witnesses are available to support the charges made providing they are assured the protection of a congressional investigating committee..."

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

The pagan spring, the Christian Easter and the Jewish Passover came to New York without too much collision.

In the 32-story Hotel Oliver on West 72nd, an elevator motor burned out for nine hours. Residents trapped in the upper stories shouted down to reporters that they were sharing their suppers.

It seemed a curious catastrophe. A problem purely of the skyscraper city. The inlet and exit were there. But who would walk 32 flights?

The night before Easter, it rained. The taxis were loaded on the wet, shiny streets. And I shared mine with a couple from Holland.

It rains in New York on Easter, too?" said the lady. "I thought it only rained on Easter in Holland."

On Easter morning, though, it had cleared. And a million and a half New Yorkers paraded Fifth Avenue which was closed to traffic.

I guess it was a million and a half. I am skeptical of newspaper estimates. Having made a good many of them myself. But I guess there were half a million people anyway.

The ladies all looked as though they had stepped out of the shop windows along the way.

The gentlemen were gussied up in bowler hats and gray pants and spats. And other gear which, I assume, will never be worn again.

The trees flowered in Central Park. The tabloid Daily News found a front page headline in "Teen Vice Ring" and informed 4,000,000 readers editorially that cigarettes did not necessarily give you lung cancer.

Jerusalem cabled that the traditional open door of the Passover was closed on account of Arab snipers.

Ola Mize, Medal of Honor winner, re-enlisted in Seoul.

The State Department scurried off in a corner. Saying Mr. Richard Nixon was talking for himself when he said we might send GIs to Indo-China.

It was mighty funny double talk. Since it was pretty obvious that Mr. Nixon had been picked to blow up the trial balloon.

Three of the morning newspapers used Easter pictures of weeping children: Frightened by toy rabbits, busting the hyacinth pot and so on.

Yet everyone turned out sedately to honor the Prince of Peace. It was necessary to get tickets in advance for the great popular churches. St. Patrick's and the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine had overflowed crowds.

We found it less crowded down at Trinity Church, that quiet churchyard lying so green and old near Wall Street. George Washington went there in 1776. He sent word ahead, requesting no "loud and violent prayers for the King and England."

(There was war in those days too. And I suspect rain in Holland at Easter time.)

There were fewer chauffeured limousines down at Trinity Church. A good many of the people looked as though they lived in the walkups that fringe the concrete canyons where Manhattan narrows down to the Battery.

The sermon was quiet and mild. And the narrow streets of lower Manhattan were filled with Sunday silence.

Afterwards we went back up to the hotel. Up at 81st Street and across from the great stone Metropolitan Museum.

Central Park was filled with Easter moppets and starched maids and perambulators.

There was a huge Easter tree, filled with eggs and decorations. Small boys in Buster Brown collars (I haven't seen them for years) went whooping after small girls in organdy dresses.

There was a spillover of ladies and gentlemen in Easter finery. Come from the crush of Fifth Avenue for the budding trees of the park.

In the quiet museum, a roomful of visitors shuffled quietly around the armless Aphrodite. The pagan marble goddess, dredged up from a forgotten Greek garden beneath the vine leaves.

Guard Halts Recruiting; No More Money

Recruiting efforts of the Army National Guard has exceeded estimates made in appropriation bills and a temporary ceiling has been placed on further recruitment.

Maj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, adjutant general for Nebraska announced Sunday.

Gen. Henninger said that Nebraska has followed the national pattern and that since the first of the year the State Guard strength has increased about 250.

Actually, Gen. Henninger explained, recruitment nationally went over the ceiling for which funds were appropriated before it could be stopped entirely and it was necessary to ask added appropriations to accommodate 15,000 more men.

"I deem this ceiling which has been interposed on the National Guard as a most unfortunate circumstance," Gen. Henninger said. "It not only stops the splendid recruiting efforts which units work so hard to obtain, but it temporarily denies the privilege of joining the Guard to young men and is bad for the defense effort."

The general pointed out that the restriction only lasts until June 30 when a new appropriation bill will permit a higher strength. Ceiling for Air Guard units have not been reached and they will continue to sign up recruits.

Gen. Henninger said he expects that Nebraska will have 3,000 men in uniform for the two weeks field training this summer at Camp Ripley, Minn.

Lipstick, Powder Sales In Hungary Increase

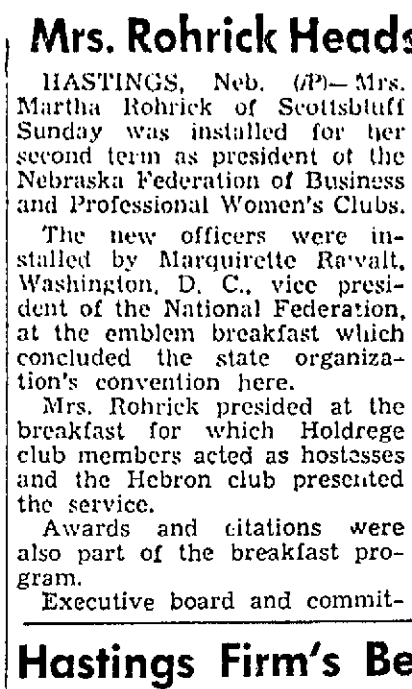

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—There is "increasing interest" in lipstick and powder in Hungary, the government news agency MTI reports. In 1953, the agency says, a ton of face powder and 80,000 lipsticks were manufactured in Hungary each month.

Now the rate has been boosted to 2½ tons of powder and 150,000 lipsticks monthly.

Capital City Of Inner Mongolia Is Renamed

TOKYO (AP)—The capital city of Inner Mongolia has changed names.

Hastings Firm's Beer Permit Granted

The Liquor Commission by two-to-one vote approved the application of Reno, Inc., of 41th West 2nd Street, Hastings, for an on-and-off sale beer license, effective May 1.

The vote of individual commissioners was not announced.

The commission announced approval of the beer and package liquor license applications of Max and Ray Barker and Claude Hale of Republican City.

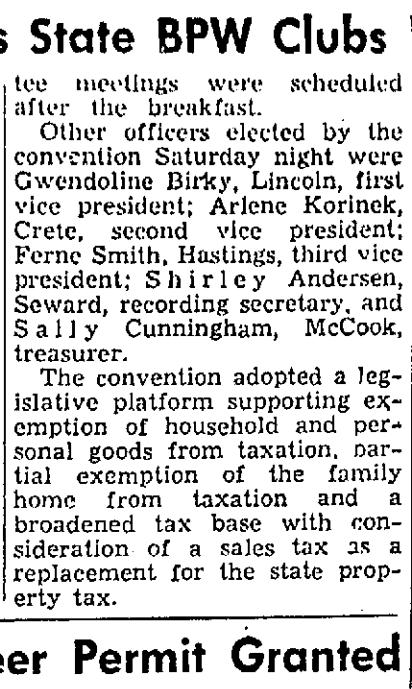

The beer license application of William D. Craig of Republican City was denied.

The Village Board recommended granting the Barker application, but denied the Hale application. The commission directed issuance of a license to Hale over the Village Board's denial.

There was a protest against Craig's application.

The Commission held a hearing on all four applications on April 13.

The Class "C" license of S. J. Micek of Duncan, Neb., was ordered suspended for 21 days, effective at closing time April 26, following hearing April 15 on complaint of sale to a minor.

Officials Await FBI Reports In Pen Murder

The county attorney's office was waiting Sunday for reports from tests in process over the week end of clothing from Penitentiary inmates who are under investigation for the murder of ePa Guard John M. Clausen.

The clothing, including shirts, pants, shoes, and socks, were taken back to the FBI National Laboratories by Sheriff Merle Karnopp in hopes the items would furnish additional evidence on the killer. The clothing items were termed as "corroborative" by County Attorney Frederick Wagener, who is handling the investigation.

Reports were incomplete on latest details but it is believed the investigation had narrowed down to two of the inmates. This was partially confirmed when it was reported that two inmates had been subjected to shots of sodium amytal, reported truth serum used by the Army during World War II.

The names of the two inmates were not released for publication. Clausen, who was superintendent of the prison printing shop, was slain April 15 while eating his lunch. He had been slugged and his throat slashed.

A Bread and Butter Matter

A Message to Employees of Elgin National Watch Company from the International Association of Machinists (AFL)

THE NLRB ELECTION TOMORROW is actually a bread and butter matter of important concern to YOU and YOUR FAMILY. In this election you are going to choose a union to bargain for YOUR WAGES and conditions of employment. Your choice of a union should be governed only by consideration of which union will be the best for you and your family. We sincerely believe that union is the IAM-AFL. Here's why:

✓ The IAM-AFL is the most EFFECTIVE union you can choose. Skilled and experienced IAM representatives will help negotiate a contract stronger than your present one. The new contract will correct a serious weakness in the present agreement by providing procedures to give employees a fair chance to fill vacancies for higher paid jobs and transfers to more desirable work before new employees are hired.

✓ The IAM-AFL has more know-how in negotiating contracts than any other union. Our union has been in business for 66 years. We have contracts with more employers than any other union in the world—14,000 in all. These contracts are analyzed and on file at our headquarters in Washington.

✓ The IAM-AFL has won top wages and outstanding benefits with very few strikes. It is the policy of our union in bargaining to rely on the skills of our negotiators and the resources which our union furnishes them, rather than on strikes. The resources available to our representatives include full-time economists, statisticians and attorneys.

✓ The IAM-AFL will process grievances effectively.

✓ The IAM-AFL will give you better protection in your job by strengthening your seniority rights. If hard times come, you will get maximum job security in a strong union like the IAM—which, in turn, is a part of the world's largest and most influential labor organization—the AFL.

✓ The IAM-AFL is American to the core—in tradition, in spirit, and in methods of operation. Our union is governed by the members who elect all officers and make all laws by secret ballot vote. Communists have been barred from membership in our union since 1924.

THE FACTS ABOUT OUR UNION constitute reasons why you should vote for the IAM-AFL in tomorrow's election. The facts explain why the IAM-AFL is the most effective union you can choose to protect your job—YOUR BREAD AND BUTTER.

Fraternally yours,

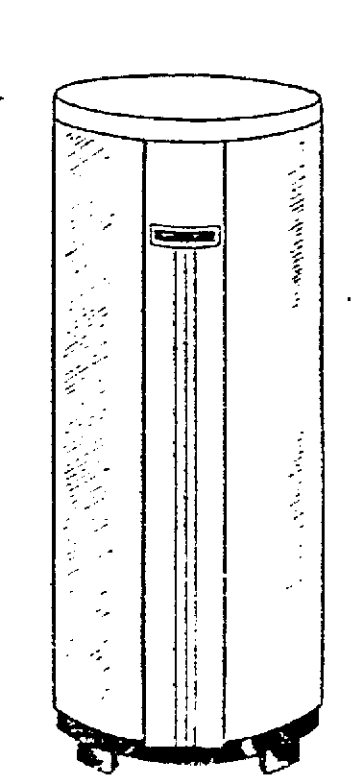

The IAM-AFL

Open Split, Indo-China Crisis Face Geneva Delegates

Slim Hopes For Agreement Held As Conference Opens

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—A crisis in Indo-China and a wide-open split with Russia over the role of Red China in the Far Eastern Conference faced the Western delegates at the opening Monday.

While Red-led Vietnamese guns and propaganda thundered threats of the extinction of the heroic Dien Bien Phu garrison in Indo-China, British Prime Minister Churchill and his chief ministers held an emergency Sunday session in London.

They were reported to have considered sending troops and planes to France's aid. The best information in London was that the British had shelved such measures, at least temporarily, but might bolster their forces in Malaya—within easy reach of Indo-China.

France was reported to have asked the United States for direct, large scale aid in the form of American planes, manned by Americans. This was understood to have been refused.

Asked about the reports of request for British and American help, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in Paris replied, "I'll do everything in my power to bring aid to those fighting in Indo-China."

One Measure

The U.S. Air Force on Saturday completed one measure of help for the defenders. Seven big Globemasters completed operation "Bali High"—the transport of about 1,000 paratroopers from Paris to an airfield in Indo-China.

On the other side of the coin, the French government was reported here to be debating on whether to send Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the Dien Bien Phu commander, instructions to ask for surrender with "full honors of war."

On the political side the French government was upset by the refusal of Bao Dai, chief of state of Viet Nam, one of the three Associated States in Indo-China, to sign at this time.

Warm Welcome For Eva Bowring

Mrs. Eva Bowring (right), who will be sworn in Monday as Nebraska's junior senator, receives a welcoming kiss from her sister, Mrs. C. W. Mead of Springfield, Mo., upon her arrival in Washington Sunday by air. Mrs. Bowring, a Republican, succeeds Dwight Griswold, who died recently. Mrs. Mead came to Washington to attend Monday's ceremony. (AP Wirephoto.)

Sen. Eva Bowring, 'A Green Cowhand,' Hits Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nebraska's new woman senator, Mrs. Eva Bowring, came to Washington Sunday and laughingly expressed the hope that her fellow senators will "remember I'm just a girl from the cow country."

Mrs. Bowring, referring to the newness of her job, mentioned this to reporters after alighting from a Nebraska National Guard plane along with other Nebraska officials, including Gov. Robert Crooks.

Vice President Richard Nixon will swear in the wealthy 62-year-old ranch owner Monday as the second woman in the Senate, the other being Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, also a Republican. Mrs. Bowring replaces the late Sen. Griswold (R-Neb.).

Quick To Learn

Mrs. Bowring insisted that while she may be new to senatorial duties she thinks she can "learn protocol" quickly.

Mrs. Bowring will only be in the Senate until November, under her appointment as successor to Sen. Griswold. She explained she will not run for election to the Senate when her term expires.

Asked if she planned any Senate speeches during her relatively short stay, she replied: Silence.

"To be silent would be unusual for women. It would be especially unusual for Eve Bowring."

She said she called herself "Eve" because "all my friends call me Eve. But I sign my correspondence with my correct name, which is Eva."

The only relative on hand to greet the smartly clad Mrs. Bowring was her sister, Mrs. Clyde W. (Zoe) Mead of Springfield, Mo.

Mrs. Mead arrived as her senator sister was posing for photographers and stopped about 10 feet away. Then she hopped up and down and waved to attract her attention, finally dashing up and giving her an enthusiastic kiss.

Also at the plane to greet the new senator was her administrative assistant, Lorne Kennedy, former assistant to Sen. Griswold.

A Blue Suit

Mrs. Bowring was garbed in an attractive blue suit and jaunty blue hat with white stripes.

At one point during her interview, a reporter offered to relieve her of a hat box she was carrying. But the senator demurred.

"That's no saddle in there," she said, smiling. "Those are hats."

One reporter said he understood Mrs. Bowring was an early riser.

"Early by your standards, perhaps," she replied. "I'm always up by 5:30 or before."

Bad Habits

Asked what time she got up this morning she answered: "At six. See, I'm learning bad habits already."

Mrs. Bowring declined to discuss any legislative interests she may have.

"Now you know," she said. "I'm just a perfectly green cow-hand come to town."

Only Woman Nationwide Newscaster Visits Lincoln

By SALLY ADAMS Star Staff Writer

Life is far from dull for any radio newscaster, but when the newscaster is a woman life can be doubly exciting.

Pauline Frederick, the only woman to have her own daily newscast on the major radio networks, furnishes proof that women can succeed in jobs usually restricted to men.

On one of her flying trips around the nation, Miss Frederick stopped briefly in Lincoln Sunday to visit the Willard B. Cowles family. Miss Frederick and Mrs. Cowles were college friends.

She explained her job saying that there is no such thing as an all women's story or an all men's story. News is the story of people, she said, and should not be presented on the basis of the sex of the reporter or listener.

Reflecting on her many world trips, Miss Frederick said among the things which she remembers most vividly are the appalling problems of India.

"I was overwhelmed with the problems of bringing in enough food, clothing and improvements to raise the standards of living," she said. "The poverty in Asia keeps impressing itself in these days with the focus on the Asian problem."

She expressed the belief that until standards of living are raised to an adequate basis, the Asian problem can't even be approached.

Another of her vivid memories is seeing the Dachau concentration camp and covering the Nuremberg war crimes trials. She said she was overcome with a feeling of horror over what the Nazis had perpetrated.

Miss Frederick is a seasoned flier. On her trip to Asia, she flew the "hump" into war-torn China. In 1949, she flew with the

Trunk Roads Group Meets On Monday

The state highway advisory committee meets for three days beginning Monday to seek within a 6,500-mile limitation, a trunk highway system for the state which will connect the principal centers of population and places of interest. It must also provide connections with principal highways of surrounding states.

Recommendations for the trunk system must be submitted to the next regular session of the Legislature together with a supplementary state-aid system which when considered in conjunction with the trunk system will result in a connected and integrated state network of highways.

The two state systems are expected to include all roads serving other than predominantly local traffic. No mileage limitation is placed on the state-aid system. Present mileage of all state-aid roads is about 9,600 miles.

The commission plans to meet first with planning engineers of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation and later with division engineers to get their views on which roads should and should not be placed on one of the two systems. They will provide the commission with traffic counts and other information on which to make their decisions.
